

WILL ANNOUNCE
ITINERARY FOR LANDON TODAY

Will Leave Thursday Afternoon For Chicago

Topeka, Kas., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Gov. Alf M. Landon cleared his desk today and spent the afternoon at home listening to the broadcast of the world series in New York, where President Roosevelt was a spectator.

The Republican presidential nominee, seated in his study, where he had been working on campaign speeches, followed the play by play report. When Tony Lazzeri of the Yankees hit a home run with the bases loaded, he leaped to his feet with a smile.

At a morning press conference Landon said he had enjoyed a fried chicken dinner given by newsmen last night with himself and former President Herbert Hoover as guests of honor.

"That was a real feed," he said, adding jocularly, "when are you going to have another one?"

Asked if he had listened to Alfred E. Smith's radio speech urging his election, Landon said he had heard part of it after seeing Hoover to his train.

Landon said his great lake states itinerary probably would be announced tomorrow. He is scheduled to leave next Thursday evening for Chicago, where he will open his fourth major vote drive with a speech Friday night dealing with the federal budget.

He will participate Monday in ceremonies welcoming home his friend, Harry Colmery, new national commander of the American Legion.

Governor Landon tomorrow afternoon will see the opening football game of the season between the University of Kansas, his alma mater, and Washburn college, Topeka, at Lawrence, Kas.

He will be accompanied by Mrs. Landon, an alumna of Washburn, and his daughter, Miss Peggy Anne Landon, a student at the University of Kansas.

Ten Year Old Boy
Is Electrocut

Los Angeles, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Police reported today that Gus Kostas, 10, was killed by electricity from a 70,000 volt fluoroscope in the office of Dr. T. T. Ratcliffe, X-ray specialist.

Detectives Thad Brown and Emmet Jones, said they were told the boy was taken to the specialist's office by Dr. J. R. Walker, for examination of a fractured wrist.

He was placed at the fluoroscope table, under which the X-ray apparatus, including a 100 vacuum bulb, in some manner, his leg, squirming about under the table, touched the uninsulated base of the bulb and the current short-circuited through his body, Brown and Jones said.

"It is not unusual for a current of 70,000 volts to pass through a human body without harm," said Dr. Ratcliffe. "This voltage is much higher than voltages that are most dangerous. Sometimes, however, a voltage considered safe kills when there are weakened or unusual bodily conditions."

George Shaw Says
Scenario-Writers
Bunch Bell-Boys

Hollywood, Calif., Oct. 2.—(AP)—To George Bernard Shaw, the bearded bard of Ireland, Hollywood scenario-writers are just a bunch of "bellboys."

He pasted that label on movie libretti today in a letter to Samuel Goldwyn, film producer.

Goldwyn, for the second time in ten years, has been trying to negotiate a deal with Shaw to film some of the Shavian plays. He has even discussed the idea of bringing Shaw to Hollywood to do the adaptations himself.

"When I allow the film firms to try their hands, they turn the job over to the bell boys," Shaw wrote.

"And when the bell-boy wants a bit of extra dialogue, he does not dream of asking me to supply it. He just sticks a patch of his racist Californian on my classical English without perceiving the difference."

"He (the scenario writer) has no more notion of telling a story than a blind puppy of composing a symphony," the dramatist concluded.

"I must admit that some of the writers deserve Mr. Shaw's remarks," Goldwyn commented, grinning. "In general, though, I find that most famous authors are satisfied with the screen treatments given their literary efforts."

Recover Man's Body From River

Lacon, Ill., Oct. 2.—(AP)—The body of Bert Herridge, 43, of Springfield, was recovered late today from the Illinois river, fifteen hours after the car in which he and Vernon Buck, 26, of Lacon, were riding plunged through a guard gate on a pontoon bridge.

Rescue crews and Earl Barnwell, Peoria diver, were still searching tonight for Buck's body.

Herridge and Buck were drowned at 12:30 a. m. today when their car tumbled into 30 feet of water in the river channel as they were driving away from an American Legion meeting, where Buck had been elected commander and Herridge had been chosen vice commander.

Both were rural mail carriers. Herridge was married and the father of four children, ranging in ages from 5 to 12 years. Buck was single and the son of Charles F. Buck, former Lacon postmaster.

Man Is Arrested
For Kissing Wife

Washington, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Two policemen who arrested Armistead W. Gilliam for kissing his wife in a parked automobile were scolded today by Police Judge Robert F. Mattingly.

Dismissing a disorderly conduct charge against the wife-kisser, the judge told him:

"Things have come to a pretty pass when a man and his wife can't sit in their own automobile and kiss each other. I commend any sentiment that promotes two persons married for four years to be kissing in public or private."

Electric Rates
In Chicago Are
Cut $3,000,000

Reduction Affects 900,000
Customers In Homes,
Offices, Stores

Chicago, Oct. 2.—(AP)—The Illinois Commerce Commission today ordered an immediate reduction of $3,000,000 a year in Chicago electricity rates at the conclusion of what officials termed the largest electric utility case in the state's history.

A ruling against the Commonwealth Edison Company meant an average saving of eight or nine per cent to residential consumers. It affected approximately 900,000 customers in homes, offices, small stores and business houses.

Simultaneously, the company's application for a three per cent increase in rates to offset the state sales tax it now pays was dismissed.

"When this three per cent is considered," said James M. Slattery, commission chairman, "the total reduction to householders will amount to 11 or 12 per cent."

Commonwealth Edison's property was evaluated at $318,000,000 for rate making purposes in the order although counsel for the firm had contended it should be $365,000,000. The attorneys for the company announced they had agreed to entry of the order.

Today's action, said Slattery, "brings the total reduction in public utility rates to the people of Illinois during the present administration to $13,805,628 per year."

Spanish Government Orders
Officers To Kill Men Who Refuse To Charge Rebels

Madrid, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Government leaders tonight ordered their officers to kill every one of their men who refuse to charge the insurgent lines squeezing Madrid.

"Do or die—if need be from your officers' bullets!" were the orders as the government commanded renewed counter attacks on all fronts.

It was the government proclaimed, "the gravest hour of Spain's history."

Several thousand raw recruits were drilled by government officers in Madrid in preparation for the final defense of the government's capital.

The war ministry announced the insurgent war driving from Avila to the complete circle around Madrid was driven back at Naval Peral and San Bartolome De Pinares, about 40 miles west of Madrid.

Some 400 Fascists were captured by government forces in the Kalamua hills on the Bay of Biscay Sector, it was reported.

The fighting around Olas Del Rey and Bargas continued unabated, with the government forces, hurling one counter attack after another against the Fascist captors of the area about five miles north of Toledo.

It was announced that government forces had captured the suburbs of Oviedo, long-besieged Fascist in the north.

In the south, an insurgent attack was expected on Aranjuez, on a main highway leading into Madrid, about 28 miles away.

4,000 SOLDIERS
ARE PATROLLING
PARIS STREETS

Disorder Is Quickly
Put Down By French
Police

Paris, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Four thousand guardsmen patrolled Paris boulevards tonight as the government's militant answer to Coy. Francois De La Roque's assertion "enemies of the people might unleash a civil war in France."

Some 500 Leftists chanting the "Internationale" clashed with 300 of De La Roque's followers singing the "Marseillaise" in the Trocadero section, but were quickly dispersed by police.

The guardsmen, brought to Paris to reinforce police during the parliamentary debates on devaluation, were ordered into active duty after De La Roque defied the government of Socialist Premier Leon Blum to break up his social party.

In a letter to Blum, De La Roque wrote:

"We fear to see the enemies of the people whom events in Spain make still more blood-thirsty unleash a civil war in France."

Calling communists "Moscow fascists," De La Roque, in the name of his party, demanded that the government take proper measures to prevent "all attempts" at an uprising.

His letter was evoked by an order from Roger Salengro, minister of the interior, for a criminal investigation to determine whether the group was an off-shoot of the disbanded "Croix De Feu"—cross of fire—as the Leftists charge.

De La Roque was chief of the Crix De Feu and charged by his political foes with having fascist tendencies.

The government, which anxiously watched the devalued franc close today at 21.45 to the American dollar, devoted its energies tonight to keep the political peace of the nation.

De La Roque, however, ordered his followers in the social party to hold protest meetings throughout the land tonight or tomorrow against the government-ordered investigation.

John R. McCarl
Says U. S. Debt
New At Limit

Chicago, Oct. 2.—(AP)—John R. McCarl, former comptroller general of the United States, declared today the national debt is now "all that it may be with safety."

It must be curtailed, he said, at the rate of a billion dollars a year to "recapture and regain our good credit."

"The new dealers insist that $35,000,000,000 is not the limit of our credit—that measured by our national wealth we can go further and our creditors can be reasonably safe," he told members of the Chicago executives club, "this is thin thinking."

"It seems certain there will be required approximately $1,000,000,000 a year just for interest. Taking our goal for curtailments to be $1,000,000,000 a year, there should be devoted approximately $2,000,000,000 a year to interest and debt curtailments."

"We must cut costs everywhere. Our budget must be and can be brought into balance."

Madrid, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Government leaders tonight ordered their officers to kill every one of their men who refuse to charge the insurgent lines squeezing Madrid.

It was the government proclaimed, "the gravest hour of Spain's history."

Give Him a Big Hand

Max Tschauder, the genial, hard-working, civic-minded manager of the Fox-Illinois theater, will leave Jacksonville next week to take up residence at Belleville. It's bad news for this city, and good news for Belleville. For six years Mr. Tschauder has been one of Jacksonville's most valued citizens, and the community regrets genuinely to see him go.

His services to the community have been cheerfully given and varied. Mr. Tschauder has a happy faculty of fitting into any role where he is cast. When responsibility is placed upon his shoulders, he gives it a ride, always in the direction of success.

As master-of-ceremonies at public events, Mr. Tschauder has won admiration of many persons for his enthusiasm, which he can convey to crowds. At the Morgan County Fair, his familiar "give them a hand, folks!", has been a well known invitation for several seasons. Mr. Tschauder can pep up a crowd as few persons can.

So, as Jacksonville hears that Max Tschauder is leaving to accept a promotion in his work, it echoes the refrain: "Give him a big hand!" His record as a citizen of this city deserves applause.

"Sore Thumb" Improves

A branch line known as the "sore thumb" until the spring of 1936, the Chicago, Attica & Southern railroad, operating 135 miles of track in western Indiana, has reported an unusual comeback by use of an auto-railer, a specialized truck with flanged wheels as well as rubber tires. It is a story of resourcefulness on the part of railroad men to save their mode of transportation, one which is becoming more familiar in these days of motor coaches, stream-lined trains, and other railroad innovations.

The railroad was a portion of the Chicago & Eastern Railroad which obtained authority for abandonment 15 years ago. A demand for service in recent years along the line, which has connections with important trunk lines every 20 miles, led its local owners to search about for an economical freight transportation unit. They chose a combined truck-rail motor car.

Under the new arrangement the road can operate the truck alone with a capacity load, can haul one or more regulation freight cars on the branch line, or can use the connecting hard roads for intermediate hauling to other stations or towns.

An example of the auto-railer's service is shown by a one day log record of the past summer, showing the unit operated 93 miles, 14 of which were on highways, and handled 579 gross tons for the day with a consumption of only 40 gallons of gasoline. This mileage is reported typical of the daily service. The unit has averaged 12 hours running time per day since it was put on the line.

The story of the "sore thumb" line is another notice to the world that the railroads are not on the way out. They have changed ways of doing business, but are still playing an important part in transportation. The success of the Indiana short line railroad may set an example that many struggling lines will follow.

An Active Campaign

Harry C. Montgomery, Republican candidate for Congress from the Twentieth district, is campaigning vigorously and seriously, impressing people of the various counties with his sound ideas on government. He has been speaking four and five times each day, and expects to continue an active fight up to November 3 in effort to replace Scott Lucas, present incumbent and staunch advocate of the New Deal.

Mr. Montgomery has scored Lucas time and again in his talks for lack of interest and initiative, pointing out that of 204 roll calls during the first session of the 74th Congress, Lucas voted only 62 times, or about 30 percent. "This is not a fair representation for the people who placed confidence in him by sending him to Washington," Mr. Montgomery declared in a recent speech. "If I am sent to represent the Twentieth district, I will be a 100 percent representative, not a 30 percent representative."

Decrying the huge debt incurred by the federal government, Mr. Montgomery has asserted that the present congressman has voted with the Democratic Congress for appropriations amounting to over nineteen billions of dollars, or $150 for every man, woman and child in the United States. Breaking these figures down to the Twentieth district, he claims that Morgan county with a population of 34,240, on a per capita basis, has been obligated for $5,339,385.60.

Mr. Montgomery, who is at present assessor and treasurer of Scott county, is earnest in his desire to serve the people of this district, and help bring about governmental reforms. If successful in his campaign, no doubt he would prove a true representative of the people.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal-Courier Washington Correspondent

New York—A month before election day, leaders in both political camps bubble with more confidence—even in their most secret conferences—than at any previous period in the campaign.

Democratic assurance appears to be somewhat nearer the flood stage than Republican assurance and the accepted betting odds, which in the past usually have forecast the winner, will almost certainly either lengthen or shorten before Nov. 3, are 7 to 5 or 8 to 5 on Roosevelt.

On the other hand, realistic Republican strategists who five or six weeks ago felt Landon had no better than an outside chance are now convinced that there's a strong tide running back to Republicanism which is likely to carry them to victory.

They are encouraged by the Maine result and by the Massachusetts and Michigan primary votes. They know they are hurting Roosevelt, with the help of Hearst, by exposing the radicalism of some of his supporters.

They think the big Landon majority in the Literary Digest poll will push a large job of the fence-sitting, love-a-winner vote over on their side.

Roosevelt "Building Up"
Roosevelt and his aides have the theory that Landon, despite what they regard as feverish if not panicky campaigning on his part, has been losing

Don't Shoot! Here Is A Prize "Knock-Knock"

When the White House physician sent energetic Mrs. Roosevelt to bed to nurse a slight cold, her condition made dinner table talk around Washington. One dinner guest felt it was a "knock-knock" subject. He addressed his hostess, "Knock-knock," and the hostess, "Who's there?" "Who's there?" "Eleanor who?" And the guest: "Eleanor high water couldn't keep her in bed."

ground and that the president, a master-campaigner, will gain ground with great strides now that he is beginning to make admittedly political speeches. His recent maneuvers, keeping his constantly in the public eye in a persistent process of "building up" have helped Roosevelt politically. Smart Republicans are aware of that and privately deplore the president's success in establishing himself, to much of the public mind, as possessing gifts of leadership in domestic and international affairs.

They are fairly certain that he will do a good job of October campaigning, fearing that he has something both effective and spectacular to pull out of his hat a few days before election and wishing they knew what this grandstand play would be.

They hope it will not be as much of a fizzle as they—and most others—consider his pipe-line trial balloon proposal to call a conference of the world's dictators, big shot kings, and other political leaders, in the interests of peace.

Roosevelt, incidentally, will devote considerable attention in October to Republican charges as to waste, extravagance, taxes, and increase in the national debt, regarding them as representing the opposition's most effective issue.

He may be expected to give figures comparing the total debt increase with the annual national expenditure for tobacco, cosmetics, chewing gum, and things like that.

"Red" Issue to Fore
The main theme of Landon's attack, others will be the idea that America must get away from other "isms" and back to "good old-fashioned Americanism."

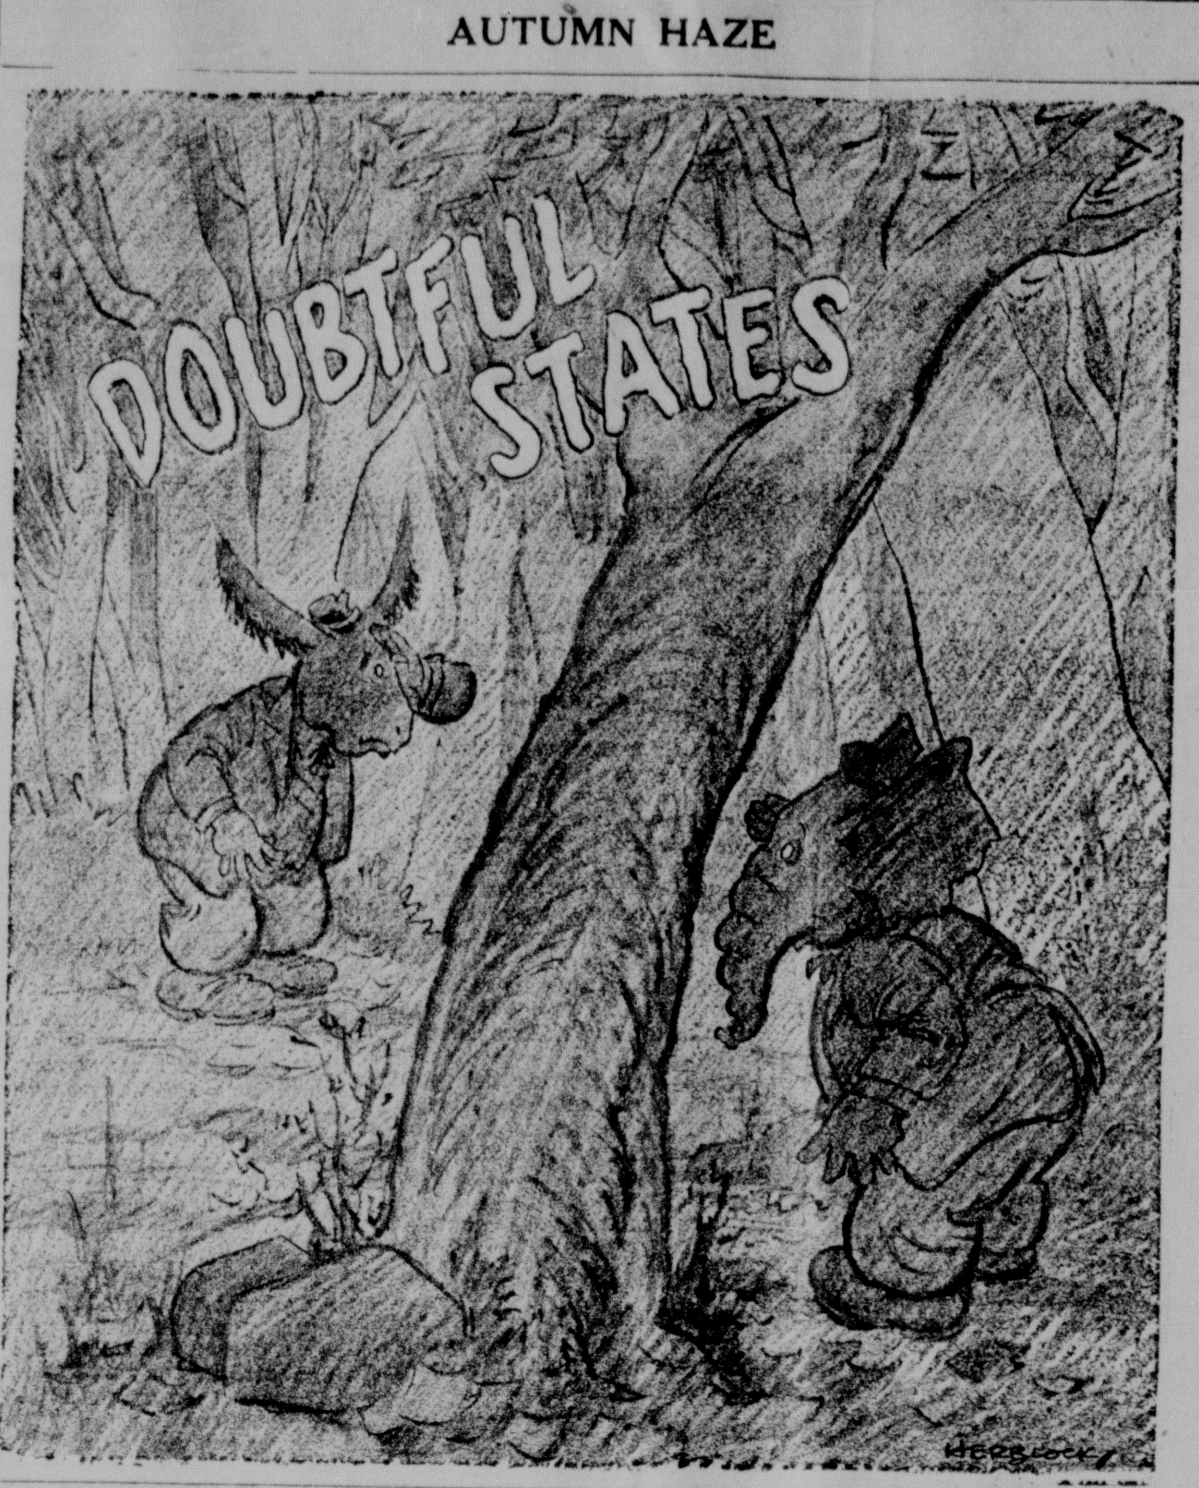

At this point politicians at both headquarters in New York are talking more about the "Red issue" than anything else. New Dealers privately admit that it has damaged them severely among Roman Catholic voters and some of them are bitter against certain high prelates whom they regard as inimical.

The immediate sore spot is the fact that President David Dubinsky of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union, which sent funds to the republican-worker forces in Spain, is a Roosevelt elector in New York state on both the Democratic and American Labor Party tickets.

Some high Democrats would like to get Dubinsky off the ticket. But it's too late and Roosevelt could hardly afford to risk losing as much labor support as such action might effect.

In the background is a carefully handled Republican campaign to convince Roman Catholics that ultimate implications of New Deal philosophy threaten independence of parochial schools. And Hearst's consistent plugging of the "Red issue" against Roosevelt has been more effective according to some G. O. P. strategists, than they expected.

Use Proper Instruments to Remove Objects From Nose, Mouth, Ears

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygieia, the Health Magazine

Frequently small children will push beans, pieces of chalk, buttons, pencils, erasers or other materials into their noses. Sometimes they will put small toys, coins, and similar objects into their mouths and inadvertently swallow or inhale these objects.

Occasionally, too, a child will shove some foreign materials into its ears. Usually the mother becomes disturbed and, in some instances, with plenty of reason.

A foreign substance in the nose is not immediately serious. More harm may be done by attempting to dislodge the foreign substance with improper instruments than by letting it alone until competent advice can be had.

If blowing the nose in the ordinary manner will not rid it of the foreign body, sneezing may cause it to be forced quickly by the use of snuff, tobacco, or some similar irritating powder.

A doctor first examines the nose or mouth with proper instruments, next determines how to remove the foreign body, and then does the work carefully. Sometimes he uses forceps to grasp the foreign substance and pull it out; sometimes he dissolves or breaks up the substance, if this is possible, or he may stretch the nasal cavity slightly so that the foreign substance will drop out.

If a child swallows a sharp pointed object, such as a piece of glass or a pin, first consideration should be given to the danger involved.

Small objects will usually pass through the stomach and intestines if the child will eat something like mashed potatoes or some bread, thoroughly chewed. Such a mass will aid passage of the foreign substance down the gullet into the stomach.

It is best then to have prompt medical advice. By use of the X-ray, the doctor will locate the foreign substance and will then make his decision as to the best method of removal.

All sorts of ingenious operations have been devised for the removal of open safety pins and similar dangerous materials. Through tubes which may be passed down the throat into the stomach, the foreign substance may be grasped and withdrawn.

Occasionally the object will work its way into the lower end of the stomach. In such cases it may be necessary to open the abdominal cavity and move the object upward, without opening the stomach, so that it can be grasped by an instrument inserted through the throat.

Teachers of County Will Take Standard First Aid Course

Sixty-one teachers in the county schools have registered to take the Red Cross standard first aid course. The names were secured last week at the institute, following a lecture on the importance of the course by a national Red Cross representative.

Classes are to be started at once in Waverly, Franklin, Murrayville, Woodson, Chapin, Concord and Alexander, points convenient for rural teachers to reach. People of the various communities are also welcome to join these classes, which will be taught by physicians and nurses. Classes must have from 15 to 25 members.

Teachers who take the standard first aid course will be eligible to teach the junior course in their class rooms. In many schools over the country this course is being taught in connection with physiology, and has been found most valuable.

Classes are to be started in the rural communities while the weather is good. Later they will be organized in Jacksonville. Victor Sheppard, county superintendent, is interested in having all teachers take the first aid course in order that the information may be passed on to the children in the schools.

Veteran Telegraph Operator Tells of 45 Years' Service

Edward J. Dolin Finds Life of Rolling Stone Has Fruit of Philosophy

Edward J. Dolin, who recently took the position of manager of the local office of the Postal Telegraph Co., has a philosophy which includes the belief that a rolling stone may not gather any moss but it does acquire a lot of polish. Mr. Dolin is a veteran telegraph operator, having spent 45 years at the key, and he has been pretty much everywhere in these United States.

"I spent 25 years in Chicago, practically working in one spot," he said in an interview Friday. "But after that I saw some of the country. I have discovered that one place is about as good as another and that opportunity is about equal everywhere. I spent about six years in California, and think I will go back sometime, even if I have to hitch hike."

During the stirring days of the Columbian Exposition in 1893, Mr. Dolin was an operator for the Western Union at the old Jackson and Clark street station. "I was an operator when we took messages with pen and ink," he said, "before there were typing machines. I was for sometime operator and public stenographer in the old Union League club in Chicago."

In the year 1910 Mr. Dolin was secretary to Dr. Seward Webb of New York, a son-in-law of the famous Commodore Vanderbilt. In that position he saw luxury, spending considerable time in the Webb summer estate at Shellburn, Vt. The wealthy and luxurious residence was in striking contrast to the simple village homes, and the life on the 4,000-acre farm was unusual when compared with the social conditions in the rural community.

"I know the postmistress at the village kept my newspaper two or three days and read it," Mr. Dolin commented. "I finally had to raise a howl. The Webb estate was so vast that it was three miles from the front gate to the residence, and the barn was a mile from the house. Huge dances were given in the barn. Even in those days Dr. Webb owned three autos. He also kept a stable of thoroughbred horses."

In 1915 Mr. Dolin was an operator at the navy base in San Pedro, Calif. He spent sometime in Utah and Idaho and in conversation showed familiarity with the history of that intermountain region.

The veteran telegrapher struck a responsive chord in the heart of the reporter when he told of spending more than three years on the Chicago American. He was an information clerk and occasionally wrote "sob stuff," he said.

SURPRISE PARTY

Thomas Hubbard was given a surprise party at his home Wednesday evening by a group of friends.

Among those present were Dorothy Day, Clara Day, Ethel Day, George Tupper, Norman Tupper, Helen McGrath, Marie McGrath, Leonard McGrath, Irene McGrath, Vincent McGrath, Phyllis Andrews, Raymond Andrews, Charles Eyre and Dwight Eyre.

from the premises. Garig greeted Smith with a single, scoring Crosetti and Rolfe. Dickey smashed a base hit to right, tallying DiMaggio. George Selkirk filed out but Jake Powell walked, filling the bag again, and sending Smith to the showers.

Lazzeri greeted Dick Coffman with a sliced drive that landed among the spectators in the lower right-field stands for three, base-clearing clout. Coffman retired the next two batters while the crowd's tumultuous acclaim of Tony's achievement echoed. Coffman gave way to a pinch-hitter after working another frame. Frank Gabler then struggled through four innings marked by sporadic outbursts from the Yankee bombardiers.

Crosetti, who equalled a record by scoring four times altogether, tallied in the sixth after walking, running to third on Rolfe's single and trotting home on DiMaggio's towering fly to Joe Moore.

Lazzeri seized the chance to set his new mark for runs batted in when he brought home one of two Yankee tallies in the seventh, with a long fly to Hank Leiber in centerfield. A pass to Dickey and singles by Selkirk and Powell figured in this session.

As the climax to their collection of 17 hits and nine bases on balls off the Giants' hurlers, the Yankees batted around in the ninth to finish off a spree that saw every player on the team get at least one run and one hit.

A pass to Powell, successive singles by Gomez, Crosetti, Rolfe and DiMaggio paved the way for Dickey to produce the farewell blast, his homer into the right field stands, with two runners aboard. Selkirk ended the weary warfare by striking out, after which the Giants tried ineffectually to blast three fly balls beyond the reach of DiMaggio and the groggy statisticians wrestled furiously with the record books.

Despite a turn to warm, sunny weather and with the nation's chief executive on hand, the crowd fell far short of the Polo grounds capacity. The attendance was only about 4,000 more than opening day when it rained most of the afternoon. The receipts were 184,962.

President Roosevelt arrived about 15 minutes before the game started, waved to the crowd as he was driven to his box, near the Giants' dugout, and tossed out a ball for the benefit of the cameramen. The president and his party remained to the finish of the record-breaking melee but thousands of other fans departed before the winning. Those who stuck it out heeded the official request to remain at their seats while the presidential party moved out of the park, through the centerfield gates, by automobile.

Now, "All ashore," the Steward sings,
"All ashore that's going."
My ship's about to sail you see,
For lands well worth your knowing.

For none her shining deck may tread
In futile past or future dread,
The present is her only port
And NOW is rich with treasure.

In timeless speed and spaceless flight
She's thro' the dark and thickly night
Her canvas bright with morning light
She moves with life o'erflowing.

So, "All ashore," the Steward sings,
The pilot's "Cast off!" signal rings.
We're on our way, The clear voice rings
"All ashore that's going!"

All Ashore that's goin' Ashore

THE skipper, young or old, sails for results. He wants to get somewhere. He knows he has to act . . . and with intelligence. He begins moving towards his destination by moving away from where he is. He takes the first step first.

Every man,—every business is going somewhere. You simply can't stand still. Either you go forward or backward—which shall it be?

Like the boy, we all have vision—some more, some less. Many times our vision is enlarged by some outside influence. It may be a friend—or something we see—or something we read. If we're alert we make a good idea our very own and we go forward under a new incentive.

Opportunities are being presented to all of us right along. We hold on to some—others we let get away. Yet they might be the very ones we need to make our lives happier—more satisfying.

Newspapers, like men, have their opportunities to grow and prosper, but to do it, they too need vision—plus. Some newspapers, like men, can become too satisfied—then deterioration sets in.

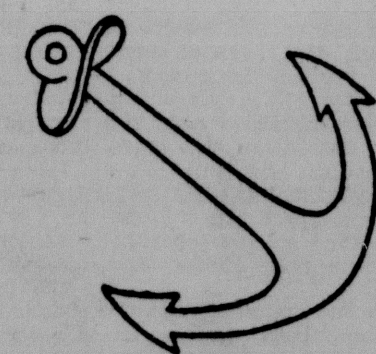

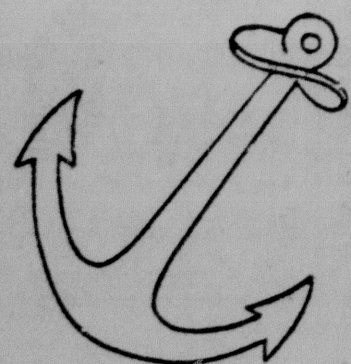

We, on the Journal & Courier, feel we have a fine newspaper—but that isn't going to stop us from making it even better. We don't intend to stop striving because we know that as our paper increases in its value it increases its usefulness to its readers, its advertisers, the community at large and to itself.

There are some people who do not regularly read this paper who could profitably do so. There are some business concerns not at present advertising in our columns who could benefit themselves and the public by so doing. There are many sound, substantial reasons for them taking the first step of subscribing or advertising.

For our part, we intend to continue carrying on a constructive effort to present the advantages of reading this paper and of advertising in it consistently. We're "casting off" right now, with this advertisement,—the first step in a renewed program to make the Journal & Courier even more interesting, more profitable than ever before to its readers and advertisers alike. You are invited to come along.

"All ashore that's going ashore."

PRESSWheat Values
Much Stronger

Chicago, Oct. 2. — (P) — Radical shrinkage of Canadian rural marketings of wheat helped give decided strength to wheat values, late today.

The Winnipeg wheat market shot upward more than 2 cents a bushel. Exporters and Chicago interests were credited with the bulk of buying at Winnipeg. Purchases of Canadian wheat for export totaled around 1,000,000 bushels.

Trade advices were to the effect that the Canadian government wheat board's future holdings were down to roughly 60,000,000 bushels, with commitments reduced to about 10,000,000 bushels.

Wheat in Chicago closed firm at the same as yesterday's finish to 11 higher, Dec. 114-114, May 112-11, July 98-1, corn 2-11 up, Dec. 94-1, May 90-1, July 86-1, oats 1-1 advanced, Dec. 41-1, and rye showing 1 to 1 cent bulge, Dec. 81-1. The outcome in provisions was unchanged to 25 cents higher.

For the first time in nearly two months, wheat arrivals from farms in Canada dropped to under 1,000,000 bushels for a 24-hour period, and amounted to but 999,000 bushels. This compared with 3,062,000 bushels a year ago. Contributing to late upward impetus of wheat values were reports of less favorable weather conditions for wheat crops in Australia. Word was received also that 60,000 bushels of United States wheat had been bought at Portland, Oregon, for shipment to Ireland.

Something of a handicap, however, to friends of higher prices for wheat was lagged action of the Chicago July delivery, representing the 1937 new domestic winter crop. Selling of July was based largely on reports of highly favorable reports of crop progress. October monthly unofficial crop estimates relating to 1936 yields in this country and Canada had little or no immediate market influence, being virtually in line with previously trade ideas.

Brisk Rally In Stock Market

New York, Oct. 2. — (P)—Led by old-time stalwarts among the Motors, Steels and Rails, the stock market today whipped up one of its best rallies of the past several months.

Continuing cheerful industrial news and less apprehension over the gold bloc currency devaluation move bolstered sentiment. Favored issues jumped ahead 1 to 3 points to new 6-year tops. There were a few much wider recoveries.

It was the fastest session since July 29, transfers totaling 1,927,980 shares against 1,107,170 yesterday. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 1 1/2 points at 68 1/2.

The breadth of the recovery was exemplified by the fact 86 issues were traded. Of these 629 advanced, 137 declined and 190 were unchanged.

Spurring buying demand were the official freight loading figures for last week disclosing a more than seasonal increase to the largest aggregate since 1930. In addition steel production displayed further forward tendencies, retail trade for the week was found highly satisfactory, and the manufacture of 1937 automobile models began to get under way at a fast clip.

Foreign gold currencies fell back in terms of the dollar, but banking quarters expressed hopes the huge stabilization funds of the United States, England and France would hold exchange rates near the planned devaluation points.

See Collaboration Among Bidders on Government's Work

Ikkes Refers Two Cases to Attorney General for His Consideration

Washington—(AP)—Accusing the bidders of "close collaboration," Secretary Ikkes today referred two instances of what he said were identical bidding on material to be purchased by the Bureau of Reclamation to Attorney General Cummings for his consideration and possible action.

One case involved a group of manufacturers and jobbers bidding to supply steel tubing for the Grand Coulee dam reclamation project in Washington state. The other bids for copper cable and wire for a transmission line on the North Platte project in Nebraska.

Ikkes said the cases were somewhat different "than in some cases of apparent collusion bidding in the past." "In each of these new cases," he said, "while most of the bids were identical, at least one bidder submitted different and lower figures and contracts are being awarded."

The North Platte contract was awarded to the Nehring Electrical Works of DeKalb, Ill., on a low bid of $16,487.69. Ikkes said, however, that of the 14 bids received August 20, seven offered the goods at a delivered cost price of $16,501.51 and two others had identical bids of $16,506.16.

UNION PARTY ON 26 STATE BALLOTS

Chicago—(AP)—Approaching the "stretch" drive of the national political campaign, the Union party today claimed it had placed the names of presidential electors favorable to William Lemke for president and Thomas C. O'Brien for vice president on the ballots of 26 states.

The total will have passed 30, John Nystul, national campaign manager said, before the election battle enters its final 30 days next week.

He said in an interview that the party expected to complete filing in Virginia and Missouri today, and in Georgia and South Carolina possibly by tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. George Musch were here yesterday from Arenzville.

When President Blasted Leadership of Foes

Repudiating Communist support and charging that Republican leaders "never will comprehend the need for a program of social justice and of regard for the well-being of the masses," President Roosevelt is shown here as he spoke in the jammed national guard armory in Syracuse, N. Y. The throng, gathered for the New York state Democratic convention, loudly cheered the president's militant speech. Shown left to right on the platform are Democratic Chairman James A. Farley, partly obscured by Senator Robert Wagner; Mrs. Roosevelt, the president, and Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, who was renominated at the convention.

KANE COUNTY CUTS DOWN LICENSE HOURS

Geneva, Ill.—(AP)—The traffic will determine the marriage license deadline in Kane county, according to Charles Lowry, county clerk.

"Gin weddings" are not wanted in Kane county, said Lowry yesterday.

After receiving reports that early morning marriages had been increasing in the county recently, Lowry said no marriage licenses will be issued after midnight henceforth.

"We don't want that kind of business," he said. "Many early morning marriages are gin inspired, and end in the divorce courts."

Lowry said he has fixed midnight as the deadline but if the "rush" starts earlier he'll make it 11 p. m. and if the traffic is still too heavy to allow marriages to be performed before midnight Clerk Lowry said he will set the deadline for 10 p. m. "and so on."

College to Hold 90th Anniversary Program Oct. 10

Re-dedication of Gymnasium Important Feature of the Day

On Saturday October 10 MacMurray College will be ninety years old. The birthday anniversary will be celebrated with more than the usual ceremonies which are traditionally associated with "Founder's Day." The re-dedication of the recently renovated gymnasium will occupy a prominent place on the program.

The first important event of the day will be a meeting of the board of trustees. It is expected that the chairman of the board, Senator James E. MacMurray, of Pasadena, California, will be here to preside over the meeting.

At 2:30 the gymnasium re-dedication will take place. As a speaker for this occasion the college has secured Miss Blanche M. Trilling, Director of Physical Education at the University of Wisconsin.

At the customary "Founder's Day" dinner, which will be held in McClelland Dining Hall at 6:15 the college and its guests will be addressed by T. W. Appleby, of Cincinnati, Ohio. Mr. Appleby is president of the Ohio National Life Insurance company.

One important event which will take place before the 90th anniversary program will be the opening of bids for construction of the new dormitory. The bids will be opened at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of Tuesday, October 6. So many bids have been presented that the opening will probably will take place in the social hall.

This building, which is to be a gift from Senator MacMurray, will be about the size of and quite similar to Jane Hall, the dormitory which was cited by the investigators of the Methodist Board of Education as the finest dormitory to be found in any college connected with the Methodist church.

It is expected that a contract will be let soon after the bids are open, and that building operations will begin in the near future.

At the same time, the college will be celebrating the 90th anniversary of its founding.

AL SMITH TELLS ALL ABOUT HATS

High Hats, Their Usage; Brown Derby He Grew Up To, Not Down

New York—(AP)—Former Governor Alfred E. Smith referred, when he spoke here last night, to the brown derby he made famous in his 1928 campaign for the presidency.

"A Democratic leader undertook to make reply," Smith said, to a speech he made in Washington last January criticizing the New Deal.

"What was the reply? Well, Al has gone high hat."

"That is a perfectly good excuse for disregarding the sacred promise of the (Democratic) party given to the people in 1932."

"There is no mistake about it. I have a high hat. So has every other man that ever goes to a wedding or a funeral. But I also have a brown derby."

"Listen, I grew up to the derby from no hat. I didn't reach down and get it."

WADSWORTH AT CANTON

Chicago—(AP)—Fred S. Purnell, director of the speakers' bureau of the Republican national committee, announced today James W. Wadsworth, congressman from New York and former U. S. Senator, would address a Republican meeting to be held Oct. 14 at Canton, Ill.

Payrolls Receive Most Of Sales Tax Says Richard Lyons

Small Portion For Relief Is Claim; IERC Has 10,000 Jobs Under Horner

Before an audience that filled the circuit court room last night, State Representative Richard J. Lyons of Libertyville delivered the principal address of a Republican rally, in which he stated that only thirty cents of every dollar of sales tax collected in Illinois under Governor Henry Horner actually went for relief, while seventy cents went for payrolls. He declared that the Horner administration has collected $144,000,000 in sales taxes, of which only $39,000,000 has been spent for relief. But from February, 1933, to June, 1936, the cost of administration was more than $37,000,000.

The speaker exhibited the payroll of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission for 1935, on which there were 10,000 jobs. He charged that a corps of 1,000 supervisors is still being maintained.

"When Brooks is elected Governor," Lyons shouted, "we are going to get rid of this payroll mob and stop this bread and butter taxation in Illinois. If Republicans take the legislature along with the governorship, we will repeal Henry Horner's sales tax. You may think the property tax has been removed, but try and get relief for any township today without levying 30 cents on the $100, and you will see what the property tax will be."

Lyons held his audience for more than an hour. He told of the AAA checks paid to Hawaiian sugar growers and to "swill" farmers for not growing corn in California. One farmer received $157,000 for not raising corn where none ever grew.

"I do not object to real American farmers getting their small checks from AAA, or to some plan of crop control," he said, "but I am protesting the distribution of the money paid by the American citizen in processing taxes to the wealthy sugar planters for not producing sugar cane. The farmer and his children will pay back many times the amount of any checks he received from AAA."

Tired Of New Deal
"Republicans and Democrats alike," Lyons continued, "are tired of the New Deal. They are tired of having men on WPA intimidated into voting to hold their jobs, tired of the vast expenditure of money, and of the immense army of payrollers. The cry that Republicans will not feed the hungry in Illinois is false. In 1932, when we had no sales tax, a Republican administration in this state turned over $18,000,000 for relief of needy citizens. During the first six months that Horner had the sales tax, he collected $25,000,000, but turned over only $9,000,000 for relief."

County Chairman Harry Strawn presided over the meeting and introduced the speakers. County Candidates Philip Bradish for circuit clerk, Oscar Zachary for state's attorney, and Frank Baker for coroner were presented to the audience. R. Y. Rowe, state central committeeman, who is chairman of the organization committee for the state, was also presented.

George H. Hatzendubler of Bloomington, candidate for lieutenant governor, was introduced and spoke for the national and state ticket. He emphasized a recent statement by Col. Frank Knox that insurance companies and savings banks will be the principal victims if the U. S. government goes broke under the Roosevelt cry of spending. He pointed out that when a government goes broke, dictatorship is soon to follow, and the rich are not the principal sufferers in the catastrophe.

The second speaker on the program was Clarence Buck of Monmouth, candidate for state treasurer. He spoke for the candidacy of Harry Montgomery for Congress from the 20th district. Mr. Buck declared that honesty in administration will be the aim of Republican state officials if they are elected.

In speaking for Alfred M. Landon, Mr. Buck quoted Frank O. Lowden as saying that Landon was in his opinion a man of character, integrity and common sense, the type needed to guide the nation during the next four years. Lowden asked Buck to go to Cleveland and stop any attempt to boost his own candidacy, but gave Landon his whole-hearted endorsement for the nomination.

Kathryn May Hite has been selected to serve as editor-in-chief, gaining that position by virtue of her outstanding work as sports editor on last year's Herald. Working with her as associate editors are Virginia Dickman and Betty Trabue. Carol McClelland has assumed the duties of literary editor while Helen Johnson and Don Campbell will take care of the girls' and boys' sport writeups.

Other students who have won positions on the staff through their work on last year's paper or by outstanding accomplishments in the journalism class are as follows:

Exchange editor—Howard Moore. Art editor—Joyce Schildman. Editorial writers—Edgar Lloyd, Rowe Samuel and Betty Trabue. Business manager—Edward Newcomb.

Editorial advisor—Margaret K. Moore. Production advisor—Mildred George. Typists—Mary Barber, Louise Lindeman and Lela Wallihan.

The following students are serving as reporters, many of them being freshmen:

Robert Gard, Marjorie Lowery, Bill Miller, Fred Nunes, Marjorie Patillo, Virginia Peters, Helen Tobin and William Winters.

The members of the staff do all the writing and supervise the distribution of the paper. The typing, running of the mimeograph machine, and stapling is a project of the commercial department under the direction of Mr. George. Miss Margaret Moore is the teacher of the journalism class.

The paper contains six pages full of school news, editorial comment, and humor. Some of the features are a "Did You Know?" column which carries interesting comments on prominent students and teachers, and a weekly letter entitled "Little Archie Goes to J. H. S." This letter is supposedly written by a typically rural hayseed and is one of the most popular features of the paper. It was started last year.

There is also a sports column, "Crimson Chatter," and several jokes. Of course, there is a quantity of news, too, that will keep the students "up" on all of the school activities.

The Herald was revived last year after several years of non-existence. This year, every pupil in the school receives a copy through the new general activity fee plan which was so successfully innovated this fall.

Capacity Audience Hears Don Cossack Chorus Last Night

The local high school auditorium was crowded to capacity Friday evening to accord a veritable ovation to the famous Don Cossack chorus, under the direction of Serge Jaroff, conductor and creator of the chorus, whose hands and face are his baton, bringing forth the wonderful blending and technique of the ensemble.

The excellency of the program thrilled all present. The tenor notes, the resonant booming basses with the electric shift from fortissimo was the most stirring music Jacksonville has heard. The vivid interpretations in the church music of Tchesnokoff; the Psalm 1 of David (Old Church Melody) and others were uplifting to the vast audience. President C. H. McClelland of MacMurray College presented the group to the audience expressing his pleasure in the concert series.

In the second part were heard possibly the gems of the program, the beautiful folk songs of the Russians, filled with the pathos, yearning and exquisite quality which were enthusiastically received. The Volga Boat song, which always is a popular part of every Russian concert, was rendered in parts like a whisper, stealing upon the air in a most remarkable tone refrain, approaching nearer and nearer, fading into the distance in clear bell tones, depicting the story of the famous song.

The final group leads to the soldier and Cossacks songs, with shrill calls and frenzied dancing, which communicated the emotion to the audience, which responded with spontaneous applause, demanding an encore and repeated returns of the conductor.
